In Campus Training Programme on Green Finance, Investments, and Appraisal of Green Projects

(09 to 11 December 2024)

Introduction: Green finance refers to the financial arrangements that are specific to the use of projects that are environmentally sustainable or projects that adopt the aspects of climate change. Environmentally sustainable projects include the production of energy from renewable sources like solar, wind, biogas, etc.; clean transportation that involves lower greenhouse gas emission; energy efficient projects like green building; waste management that includes recycling, efficient disposal, and conversion to energy, etc. To meet the financial needs for these types of projects, new financial instruments such as green bonds; carbon market instruments (e.g. carbon tax); and new financial institutions (e.g. green banks and green funds) are being established. Together they constitute green finance. This is fast emerging as a priority for public policy.

Green finance is central to the overall discussion on sustainability of economic growth. Rapid economic development is often achieved at the cost of the environment. Dwindling natural resources, degraded environment and rampant pollution are hazardous to public health and pose challenges to sustainable economic growth. To protect and substantially improve the environment, nations around the world have been increasingly focusing on the use of eco-friendly technologies.

As part of the green finance initiative, the Reserve Bank has included the small renewable energy sector under its Priority Sector Lending (PSL) scheme in 2015. With the aim of creating awareness among the bankers and to improve credit flow to this sector through development and appraisal of green projects, BIRD Mangaluru has conceived an in-campus training programme and scheduled a three-day basic programme on this subject for the benefit of Banks/FIs, NGOs, CSR Foundations and Agencies implementing Green/Climate Finance Programmes.
